2LOCK

about

2LOCK (born Nana Fynn Acquah-Harrison) has been seen by many as a sleeping Reggae giant. It is a well-established fact that 2Lock is not known for his exploits in Reggae as much as it is for HighLife music (Ghanaian music mainstay genre).

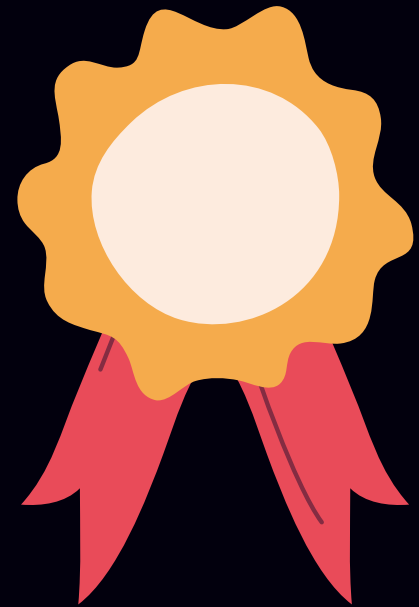

He is one of the few acts in the world who can switch genre at the snap of a finger. 2Lock is a virtuoso with an energetic stage act and presence with a height of 6ft. He is also 21 time nominee and 6 time winner of Ghana Music Awards and Bass Awards.

2LOCK passion for Reggae pushed him to form his Reggae band even while he was in school. After school, he also joined an Afro reggae band, Sensi (defunct). He later joined the n Local Krysis but the band broke up after a couple of years.

Determined to make a mark in music, 2LOCK released a HighLife/Reggae album. Ankwansema (a Lovers Rock track rendered in his mother tongue Fante) and the title track was an instant hit across Ghana and West Africa.
